CRIME AND PUNISHMENT

False alarms may all be part of the day's work for Fire Brigade and Police Force alike. But when they raised by "practical jokers" it really is a serious business. The police here have a tough job - tougher than any other for export. organisation. They are doing it singularly well. But it is no joke-no joke at all-to send them rushing all over the place as they did on Saturday night, following a report that proved to be false. It isn't merely a question of wasted energy, still less of mortification of "face." The perils of such incidents in creating a diversion of attention and effort while a gang of gunmen may pick on quite a different district for a coup need no illustration.

The police in Hong Kong have little spare time on their hands. They are kept pretty tion as well as the detection of crime. That is not due to the scarcity of men of the criminal class, but to the unceasing vigilance of the police. When these people get away with a sensational coup, it becomes a nine days' wonder. The cases heard almost daily in the Courts make no such impression. Very often the reports are not even read. Yet they show just as clearly the type of the enemies of society who have managed to get

There was a time in important trading centres and ports in this part of the world after the last war when the battle between crime and law and order went to the criminal, and neither life nor property was safe. They were nasty places to live in. A great task had to be done to swing the balance the other way, and it was done. And because it was done, and banks, godowns and shops not to speak of human lifebecame reasonably secure once more, trade boomed. Germany's steel firms are about to launch a big propaganda campaign for an increase in Germany's steel sesig quota—the amount of steel she is allowed to produce.

These do not include minor cases of possession' taken in the lower courts. nor Supreme Court cases in which culprits have been arrested but the weapons have not been recovered. In each and every case of this serious nature police officers have had to risk their lives. One act of prevention may save not one crime but several.

Questions have been asked as to whether the local Police possess bullet-proof waistconts. They do, and in every way they are well equipped. But there is another question which does need attention. The real, restraint upon the commission of crime consists in the punishments inflicted upon those convicted, more especially those with previous convictions and those convicted of epidemic and very serious offences, such as the use of weapons.

Yugoslavian neutrality on Korea

London, September 10. Belgrade Radio said tonight that Yugoslavia regard. ed the Korean conflict as an imperiulist war towards which Yugoslavia preserved complete neutrality and champlened the cessation of hostilities at the earliest possible date.

It described the fighting in Korea as "a struggle of the Korean, people against two great powers, each of which wants to get the supremacy for itself in this part of the world, as elsewhere,"

"Yugoslavia recognises the right of all peoples to champion their independence and therefore also the Koroan people's right to do so," the broadcast added.

The Radio said that it was authorised to state Yugoslavia's standpoint because certain Cominform countries had accused Yugoslavia of taking sides in Korea and of sending volunteers to fight there.-Router.

ECONOMIC RECOVERY BEING ACHIEVED

A reliable report from Red China would indicate that the Chinese Communists are slowly but steadily achieving what Chairman Mao Tsetung has called the country's primary task for 1950-51 -- economic recovery.

The Associated Press's informant behind the bamboo curtain writes that Red China's big cities such as Shanghai, Tientsin, Hankow and Canton, are today showing an "unmistakeable turn in business from the deep depression of last winter."

Arab leader s warning

Washington, September 10. Dr. Charles Malik, Lebanese Minister to the United States, warned the West today not to assume that the Arab world is inherently immune to Communism.

Writing in "The Sign," na-tional Catholic magazine, Mr. Malik sald the Communists do not under-estimate the "far reaching significance of the social and economic backwardness of the Arab as an ideal soil for the spread of Communism. Nor do they forget as the West apparent-ly does that the more frustrated

Washington, September 10. President Truman's bold moves to shift the United States economic machinery, into high gear will have a tremendous impact on the world economy and morals.

In rapid succession on Saturday, the President announced that the United States would send more troops to Europe and at the same time double its defence spending at home.

Mr. Truman told the nation would be accompanied by many frankly in a radio broadcast dangers as well as benefits. The that the American people would have to accept a lower standard of living, pay more taxes and work harder "to support our fighting men and build up our strength to deter Communist aggression."

Mr. Tom Whittaker, Manager of the Arsenal Football Club, has signed on a young player with a name almost as well known as his ownbut not in football. He is Brian Close, the England and Yorkshire professional cricketer. Whittaker signed him knowing that Close would not be available for football until next season, for he soon leaves for Australia with England's cricketers on a tour that will last eight months.

MORE SOCCER?

By DENIS COMPTON

It looks like good-bye to football for me. It's no use kidding myself any more. This old knee, I'm confident, will be good for many more seasons of cricket, but I can't see it standing the strain of serious Soccer again.

Nothing definite will be decided, of course, until have heard what Mr. Tom Whittaker has to say, but I've a pretty good notion that he will advise me to pack up.
